

TABULA RASA

THE POMONA COLLEGE UNDERGRADUATE PHILOSOPHY JOURNAL

CALL FOR PAPERS

Tabula Rasa, the undergraduate philosophy journal of Pomona College, publishes undergraduate student work, both writing and art, in philosophy. Students of all disciplines are encouraged to submit, as long as their work deals with philosophical thinking or engages philosophical themes. Tabula Rasa seeks to share accessibly written yet academically rigorous content with a wider readership, curating intellectual discussion across philosophical traditions and humanistic disciplines.

Guidelines for submission

- ◇ Essays should...
 - Be roughly 2500-3500 words in length, submitted as a Word document.
 - Offer original analysis on any topic in philosophy.
 - Include proper citations (Chicago endnotes).
- ◇ Artwork should...
 - Be provided in a .JPG/.JPEG or .PNG file format.
 - Be accompanied by a brief, one-paragraph description.
- ◇ Other guidelines
 - All work must be original. Please do not submit work published elsewhere. If it has been submitted elsewhere but not yet accepted, please keep us up to date with its publication status.
 - The submission deadline for the Spring issue is April 16, 2023.
- ◇ To submit: tabularasaclaremont.com/submissions or email to tabularasaclaremont@gmail.com

Please direct any questions to Sam Hernandez at sjha2020@mymail.pomona.edu

Past editions: tabularasaclaremont.com