

Arguments for the Existence of God

Resolved: God does, in fact, exist.

Mr. René Descartes

Mr. Benedict de Spinoza

Mr. Gottfried Wilhelm von Leibniz

Question 1

Both Mr. Leibniz and Mr. Descartes argue that you are not actually discussing God although you use the name, 'God'. Would you please clarify what you mean by your use of the term 'God' and suggest why this conception is preferable to those that your opponents present?

Question 2

What exactly is the “problem” of infinite regress? Do you believe that it is a problem for Spinoza? If so, how?
